

HIGHER FAILSWORTH PRIMARY SCHOOL

Meet the Governors – Mathew Robinson

My name is Mathew Robinson and this is my first year as a parent governor. I have one boy called Leo at the school and he is in Year 1. He absolutely loves school and wishes he could go at weekends!

I currently work in education as an SEN teacher in an Independent school of only 8 kids, ranging from 6 to 13 years old. I have done many different jobs in my life, from chef to parking valet to photography studio owner. However I have finally found my passion and something I can make a difference with, in the school I am currently working in.

I spent my 20's travelling and ended up in Guadalajara, Mexico where I learnt Spanish and taught the locals how to speak Mancunian English, which they loved. I also spent time in Vancouver, Canada in the summers, where I would work in restaurants and enjoy the Canadian lifestyle.

I feel very strongly about the children in my community and I am hoping my role as Parent Governor will help me get closer to be able to make a difference.
