HIGHER FAILSWORTH PRIMARY SCHOOL

Meet the Governors – George Halliwell

My name is George Halliwell and am currently a Year 6 Class Teacher at Higher Failsworth Primary School and the new Staff Governor. I have worked with children since I was 13, teaching swimming at a private swim school. My swimming career ended here when I finished my BA (Hons) in 2023. That is when I joined Higher Failsworth Primary School and started my teaching career as an ECT teaching in Year 3. Throughout my time at our school, I have built positive, strong and lasting relationships with both pupils and staff. One of my beliefs is the importance of embodying the image of a strong, positive male role model for students to look up to as this is something that could be a missing piece of children's life. Another passion of mine is technology and how this can be used more within education. Lastly, I am extremely interested in all aspects of education as a whole and I aim to develop a deeper understanding of how these aspects fit and work together to create a successful educational system.

In my own time, I love to travel the world to see new aspects of the globe, spend time with my family and friends and watch all things Star Wars, Marvel and Doctor Who! Every now and then, I still sometimes teach some swimming on the weekends too.

I am proud to be the Staff Governor at Higher Failsworth Primary School because I believe that our school is a fantastic place to work and learn; providing the children and staff with an amazing educational setting to thrive in all areas.
